BROWN-WOODWARD NUPTIALS

A marriage of interest to a large number of persons in this city was that of Miss Anna E. Brown to Mr. Louis P. Woodward of Alexandria, which was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Harris, in Columbus, Miss., at noon Tuesday, January 14, in the presence of a few close friends of the contracting parties.

The bride, who is a most charming woman, entered the living room of the home with her niece, Miss Eri Douglass, wearing her traveling dress of midnight blue, with gray accessories and black hat and carrying an arm bouquet of bride roses and ferns. Miss Douglass' gown was of navy blue georgette and taffeta, and she carried pink carnations.

Mr. W. W. Hoke, of Martin, Tenn., acted as best man, and the impressive ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev Phelph, of Columbus. Immediately before the ceremony Miss Mattie Hoke, a young school-girl niece of the bride, sang, accompanied by Miss Louise Peacher, who also played the wedding march.

The bride spent several years in Hattiesburg, where she was connected with the public schools as primary teacher. Her unusual ability in her chosen profession, and her charming manner and sunny disposition, have made for her many friends among all circles, not only in this city, but in many other cities of the state where her school activities have carried her. It is with regret that her friends here see her go so far away to live.

Mr. Woodward is from an old and well known family of Virginia and is connected with the government service in Washington. He and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for Alexandria, Va., where they will reside in the Woodward family home.

Many pretty courtesies were shown the bridal party by Columbus friends during the few days preceding the wedding, prominent among them being the dinner Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris, when a few friends were invited to meet Mr. Woodward and the out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Among those present besides the honorees were Mrs. H. M. Hanna and Miss Ary Cloy, of thsi city Mr. W. W. Hoke of Martin, Tenn., brother-in-law of the bride, Misses Wenonah Poindexter, Martha Montcastle, Eri Douglass and Mattie Hoke of Hattiesburg, Miss. American.

DEATH OF MRS. TRADER

Ella Newsom Trader, the "White Angel of the Confederacy," died at her home in Washington yesterday morning. Veterans of the civil war remember the gentle figure in gray, whose ministering care was tendered to the wounded and sick of both armies. The story is told of a young Yankee colonel who was brought severely wounded into the hospital under Mrs. Trader's care and who exclaimed as the nurse bent over him: "You wouldn't be so kind if you knew that I was on the enemy's side." "You are wounded," she replied: "I make no distinction."

HEARSE WRECKED BY TRAIN

Driver Seriously Injured—Body Escapes Damage

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 21.—A double header Norfolk and Western freight train drawn by engines 389 and 446, Enginemen L. P. Carwell and H. O. Williamson, yesterday afternoon struck on the Main street crossing at Shepherdstown, the hearse containing the body of Mrs Henry F. Needy, carried the vehicle one block, completely demolishing it seriously injured the driver, John Hoffman, son of Undertaker R. S. M. Hoffman, and tore off the top, sides and ends of the casket, but the corpse was not even scratched.

GRAND THEATRE

Taylor Holmes was overpoyed when his role in "The Small Town Guy" which will be seen at the Grand tomorrow, was described to him. "It consummates my entire dramatic strivings," he said, enthusiastically. And those who are familiar with his work in previous Essanay Perfection Pictures will agree that he was cast in a well-suited role.

He is especially fitted for it, as a review of the production has proven. "The Small Town Guy" is an excellent vehicle for employing his natural expressions and style of acting. His eyes, widely open and innocent, his expressions of extreme trust and faith—they will bring many a laugh to the lips of the movie-goers.

BRYAN IN RICHMOND

Commoner Addresses 5,000 People—Theme "Back to God"

Atheism was attacked by William Jennings Bryan Monday night in his address, "Back to God," before almost 5,000 persons at the City Auditorium, Richmond, which was packed to capacity. The orator pleaded that belief in God, belief in the Bible and belief in Jesus Christ as the Son of the Almighty be restored to the world.

That Nietzsche, the noted German philosopher, and his doctrine of the superman and absolute repudiation of God was probably more responsible for the world war than any other one man was the declaration of Mr. Bryan. The cruelties and barbarities practiced during the war by the Huns were defended in advance by Nietzsche, he pointed out, stating the Teuton philosopher had but carried Darwin's theories to a logical conclusion.

The girls basket ball team simply grew tired of losing and defeated the Alumnae by a score of 13 to 10. The playing of Misses Carver and Lloyd featured the game.

She addde:

"It is due to their irrestible impetus that Luxemburg was liberated from the yoke under which the foreign invader was crushing it, regardless of solemn obligations and treaties."

INDICTMENT DAY

Peace Conference Considers Case of Nations Which Brought on The War.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Today is "indictment day" at the Peace Conference.

It will see what will be perhaps the most formidable array of condemnation in the history of the world, as each of the nations that aided in the overthrow of German militarism will present their views regarding the responsibility of the authors of the war.

Without doubt the session will be first in camera, as memoranda will be presented which will be confidential and treated the same as a true bill; that is, their contents will not be disclosed until the culprits are brought to the bar of justice.

Thus far France and Britain have assumed leading roles in gathering evidence and data against these persons believed to be responsible for the war.

President Wilson, however, has always insisted that those guilty of four years slaughter shall be punished, and our views on the subject undoubtedly will be presented, possibly by Secretary of State Lansing.

Because of the great number of nations represented at the conference it is believed that every single individual in Germany, including the ex-Kaiser and Crown Prince, and all the rest of the sword-clanking crew who were in any way responsible for the war, will be named in the international roster of prospective defendants.

The same is true of the second number on the conference program—that of fixing the responsibility for the crimes committed in the war.

Under this subject France, England and Belgium will be able to submit a list of inhumanities practiced by the Germans on the inhabitants of their countries, and also the names of the perpetrators. One example of the deep feeling of these nations was shown at the Crillon here.

In a prominent place in the corridor of the hotel is a large copy of the decree proclaiming the death sentence of Edith Cavell, and at one time or another all the American plenipotentiaries have seen it. It is only one example, however, of how France and England and Belgium have kept the atrocities fresh in their memories.

From the sentiment of the Peace Conference it may be predicted that nothing will be done finally regarding the authors of the war which would give Germany a chance to proclaim martyrs. On the contrary, though the punishment meted out will be of such a character as to satisfy those who hope for the greatest possible odium on those who wilfuly began the war, no measures are expected to be taken to give Germany the excuses of claiming vengeful persecution.

SOLDIERS TO QUIT BELGIUM

Revictualing and Reconstruction Hampered by Presence of Troops

Brussels, Jan. 21.—In order to facilitate the revictualing and reconstruction of Belgium, which has been hampered by the exclusive use of the railways for military purposes, Marshal Foch, at the request of the Belgian Government, has decided to withdraw the British and American forces now in Belgium and employ them elsewhere.

The Food Minister has left Brussels for Paris to arrange for further measures to relieve the food situation.

CHRISTINE FORD ARRESTED

Christine Ford, missing for some time from her Lynchburg home, and recently thought to have been murdered and her body consigned to the James River near Richmond, was arrested Monday in Norfolk, upon a description furnished by the family. She had just reached the city from New York.

Recently the body of an unknown young woman was found in the James River, near Richmond. Every effort of the police to identify the body proved futile. There were no definite clues. One of the theories advanced was that it was the body of Christine Ford, of Lynchburg, reported missing Miss Ford, in custody of an officer, left for Lynchburg Monday.

INGOMAR—LOUISE GLAUM

Can a woman keep a secret for twenty years? Alouette de Larme did. Alouette was a French girl forced to marry a German, and, until the day of reckoning came twenty years later, she kept silent about her marrage to a Frenchman whom her second husband had killed and hid from him the fact that her son was a child of her first marriage.

Louise Glaum, in the role of Alouette in "A Law Unto Herself," a Paralta-Hodkinson picture to be shown at the Ingomar Theatre tonight, has one of the the biggest and most sympathetic roles of her screen career. Those who have seen this clever actress only in vampire roles will have a pleasant surprise awaiting them in "A Low Unto Herself."

AGAINST PROHIBITION

Cardinal Gibbons Declares Dry Enforcement Strikes at Heart of Christian Religion—Favor It's Use With Proper Regulations.

Baltimore, Jan. 21.—Cardinal Gibbons yesterday presented an argument against prohibition.

In his statement Cardinal Gibbons advocates in substitution for an unjust law strict regulations to govern the manufacture and sale of liquor.

"I have always been in favor of strict regulations of the manufacture and sale of liquor," said Cardinal Gibbons, "instead of absolute prohibition, because, by a strict regulation, the liliberation of individuals is preserved, whereas by prohibition we face regulation which, in the long run, cannot be corrected, and an early result of prohibition will be the secret and illicit manufacture and sale of bad liquor, whereby the Government will be deprived of large revenue besides being put to enormous expenses in employment of agents to enforce the law. Moreover, in the carrying out of the law, I see also an invasion of the home which, up to now, all men have agreed is a sacred and holy place. These agents may enter our homes with the violence of burglars and the immunity of officers of the law.

"To me it is very strange that after 2000 years men should pass legislation which strikes at the very fundamentals of the Christian religion. Will not the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of wine affect those who profess the Christian religion? We have 20,000 Catholic clergymen in the United States who every day offer the sacrament of the Mass. How can they perform this duty if they cannot obtain wine.

"I know I will be replied to that wine is permitted for sacramental purposes. I cannot see how this will be if the manufacture, sale and importation of wine is prohibited.

"The law of prohibition strikes the individual liberty of worship.

"We permit the restricted sale of poisons, guns, etc., although the bad use of these is frequently fatal.

"Why not permit the use of wine and liquor under proper regulation."

EBERT WINS BIG VICTORY

Majority Socialists Appear to Have Scored Half of Total Votes Cast

Berlin, Jan. 21.—The election was carried out quietly except for some demonstrations by Spartacans in provincial towns where attempts were made to destroy the ballot boxes.

Many hours before the opening of the polls the voting stations were besieged by huge crowds of voters. Women were overwhelmingly in the majority.

Terrorism in Germany went down to ignominious defeat under a landslide of votes for the moderates for the national constituent assembly. The assembly is to draft a constitution and decide upon the future form of government.

The majority Socialists—the Ebert-Scheidemann party—scored between 40 and 50 per cent of the total votes cast, it was announced by Richard Fischer, secretary of the party last night.

The second largest total vote appears to have gone to the Centrist, or Catholic party, credited with 30 per cent of the grand total. Then come the Democrats with 15 per cent, and last the Independents with only 5 per cent.

At 6 o'clock last night the count stood as follows:

Majority Socialists, 140,000; Independent Socialists, 104,000; non-Socialist, 100,000.

The assembly is expected to be held in Weimar.

In Berlin alone, 2,000,000 votes were cast.

RICHMOND—"I'll SAY SO

George Walsh in his latest picture, "I'll Say So," at the Richmond tonight is no picture for a man who wishes to carry his troubles to the theatre—and remember them. It isn't a picture for one to drop in to see when they have an engagement to keep, for they will surely miss that engagement, unless they have seen the final fade out on this remarkable picture. All others, including the children, will enjoy the fast action and the many laughs this picture affords.

AFTERMATH OF THE WAR

During the past two months the great mass of the peaceably-disposed people of the world have been enthused by the notion that with the close of the war in Europe the approach of he Millienium has been accelerated and that the era sighed for by poets and foretold by prophets is about to dawn upon the planet. Addresses delivered by enthusiastic but well meaning men, tell us that the realization by the people of the earth of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man is at hand.

While we believe in the glory of the ages to come, we fail to see through the lenses used by some supposed leaders of thought at present, as occurrences chronicled daily in the newspapers show that men are as fierce now as they were in antediluvian days.

The story of the defiance of God by a terrorist in a Russian church and the murder of the priest was printed in yesterday's Gazette. This fiend, who was subsequently killed, exclaimed after he had invaded the church and killed the pastor while conscientious people were kneeling: "You see how silly all this religion is. There is no God. I tell you there never has been a God."

A dispatch from Christiania, Norway, published in the papers today tell of the propaganda made in that country by the Bolshevists against the Christian religion. They demand that its teachings be eliminated from the schools.

It was given out at the Peace Conference yesterday that the Bolshevists have an army of 300,000 in Russia, and that at present they have the best of the situation England favors inviting the Reds to the peace table. These statements are ominous.

Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg Berlin revolutionists, who were killed a few days ago, achieved the very difficult task of making imperial suppression of personal liberty respectable suggests a contemporary. So long as they were fighting autocracy they appeared to be the champions of mankind against tyrants and kingcraft. The world generally regarded the imprisonment of Liebknecht during the greater part of the war for a speech in the Reichstag denunciatory of the Government as a great outrage on political rights. In three months Liebknecht and Luxemburg have made the act of the Imperial Government look like a measure to preserve society.

"They were as relentless enemies of the Ebert Government as they were of the Kaiser. For the Spartacans of Germany, the Bolsheviki of Russia and the I. W. W. of the United States are not fighting for political liberty, for the political rights of all the people. Democracy is no more to their taste than autocracy. They are the enemies of all classes except the proletariat.

"But the tyranny of the proletarint is as oppressive and as cruel as that of the autocracy, and it is totally without a sense of responsibility, while every autocracy since medievalism has been controlled in some measure by a sense of responsibility and by habit, which habit is a national custom created by the people as well as by the ruling caste. No nation can exist without government, and its government must be of a national character."

QUESTION OF GUARANTEE

Whatever objections may be made to Marshal Foch's demand for the Rhine as a frontier, none ought to come from Germany says an exchange. "We have no great confidence in the self-respect of Germany, but the nation ought to remember its own brutal demands only a few months ago, when it thought it was going to dictate terms to the Allies, and now that the shoe is on the other foot a dignified silence ought to mark the German reception of the peace terms, no matter what they are in terms of money or terms of territory.

"For many years before the war and down to late last spring or early in the summer Germans, high and low, statesmen, pamphleteers and newspapers, were enumerating the portions of Belgium and France and Pussia that they should appropriate. Sometimes the need of additional territory for the population was urged, and of course the annexed territory was to be depopulated in order to make room for the Germans; sometimes the need of Antwerp and French ports on the British Channel and the Mediterranean by German commerce was insisted on; but the ground on which the property of other people was most often demanded was the protection of the peace-loving German Empire, which had been set upon by England, France, Italy, Russia and Belgium, and must be made safe against any recurrence of such an assault.

"The German demands were for actual guarantees," which meant that promises in treaties would not do. The German frontier must be pushed forward here, there and in another place, to occupy every strategic position so that Germany would feel perfectly safe. It was to be impossible for any nation or group of nations to combine or an assault on the pacific Teutonic Empire, and "actual guarantees" are exactly what Marshal Foch calls for. Treaty agreements with Germany he does not trust, and who can blame him? Certainly the Germans are in no position to. He wants to safeguard France. Germany can't decently offer objections with all the volumes of her conquest literature staring the world in the face. The five-foot bookshelf would not hold this literature. After all that Germany has said of the imperative necessity of "actual guarantees," meaning all the land adjacent to Germany, how absurd it would be for it to offer protests against "actual guarantees" for France!"

WHY IS IT THUS?

Billy Sunday, beginning the second week of his campaign in Richmond, preached to approximately 15,000 people in three sermons at the Auditorium last Sunday. Fully 20,000, it is estimated, were denied admittance after every available inch of seating space had been taken. So large were the crowds and so early did they come that the evangelist started all of his meetings ahead of time, considering it needless to observe schedules when all who could be seated had been admitted. Thousands were turned away at the morning and afternoon meetings, but it was not until night that the peak was reached.

Sunday visited Camp Lee yesterday, where he was greeted by a densely packed house, while thousands were unable to enter the building where the services were held.

The visit of Gypsy Smith, Jr., to Alexandria in September, 1916, is still fresh in the minds of many. During the four weeks he was here he held nightly services, and on each occasion the huge tent in which they were held was filled to overflowing, while hundreds stood on the outside and listened to his addresses.

It is difficult to get people that is outside the regular attendants—to attend church services under normal conditions. Resident ministers spend much time in preparing addresses, but many of them become depressed when they stand in their pulpits and scan the array of empty benches before them. Yet when evangelists appear in cities people who for years have failed to darken church doors fall over each other to obtain seats.

We fail to see any good reason why people cannot listen to men who have made the Bible a lifetime study as they do under the ephemeral ministrations of itinerants.

VIRGINIA NEWS

The gymnasium at the Virginia Episcopal School for Boys at Lynchburg was destroyed by fire yesterday, the blaze being caused by an overheated stove. Dr. Robert C. Jett, president of the school, stated that the loss is upward of $3,000 and insurance $1,000.

James P. Woods, of Roanoke, has been nominated by the Democratic voters of the Sixth Congressional district to succeed Representative Carter Glass in Congress. The primary election, held Saturday, resulted in Wood's winning by a large majority. He was nominated for both the long and short terms. Governor Davis has ordered February 25 as the date of the election, but it is not thought that Woods will be opposed.

The Rev. Billy Sunday visited Camp Lee yesterday afternoon, and at the big Y. M. C. A. hut delivered a sermon to over 4,400 soldiers, hundreds of others not being able to gain access to the building. Mrs. Sunday gave the boys a most interesting talk, concluding by saying that if on returning home a soldier should find that his best girl had gone back on him not to let it worry him, for she was not worth having, anyway. Mr. Sunday spoke this morning in the Academy of Music in Petersburg in behalf of the Armenian and Syrian fund.

Paul David Cockrell, 26 years of age, of 2232 Q street northwest, Washington, formerly employed as foreman on a Newport News construction job, was arrested yesterday in the capital city on complaint of the Virginia authorities and held to await extradition papers. The Newport News police charge Cockrell with a felonious assault on a pay clerk in that city. Cockrell, it is charged, went to the place where he was formally employed disguised with a wig on and attempted to rob the pay clerk.

TELEPHONE TOLL RATES ON NEW BASIS

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 21, 1919.

(Announced December 13, 1918, by the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.)

NEW SCHEDULES OF RATES for telephone toll calls (to points outside the local service area), under which all toll calls throughout the United States are placed on a uniform basis, become effective 12.01 A. M., January 21, 1919.

UNDER THESE NEW SCHEDULES a "station to station" rate is the basis upon which all rates for the various classes of service offered are computed. This rate is determined by the air line service between toll points and is computed, for the initial period, on the basis of 5c for each 6 miles up to 24 miles and 5c for each 8 miles beyond that distance.

A "STATION TO STATION" RATE is charged for toll calls where the calling party does not specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone.

A "PERSON TO PERSON" RATE is charged for toll calls where the calling party specifies a particular person to be reached at the called telephone and the connection is established and conversation held with that person. As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort, the rate for such calls is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. The minimum "person to person" rate is 20c.

AN "APPOINTMENT" RATE is charged for toll calls on a "person to person" basis, where the calling party, in placing the call, designates a definite time at which he will talk and the conversation is held. As this service involves the making of the appointment in addition to the operating effort necessary for a "person to person" call, the "appointment" rate is usually about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate. The minimum "appointment" rate is 25c.

A "MESSENGER CALL" RATE applies for toll calls made on a "person to person" basis where messenger service is required to get the designated person to a public telephone at a distant point. This rate is the same as the "appointment" rate, plus any necessary charge for messenger service. The minimum "messenger call" rate is 25c.

A "REPORT CHARGE" is made, equivalent to about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate, for all toll calls other than those made on a "station to station" basis where the connection is established but the conversation is not held because the calling or called party is not present, will not talk or has no telephone. The minimum "report charge" is 10c; maximum, $2.00.

NIGHT RATES, applying only to calls made on a "station to station" basis, are quoted between the hours of 8.30 P. M. and 4.30 A. M. The rate between 8.30 P. M. and 12 midnight is about one-half the "station to station" day rate, and between 12 midnight and 4.30 A. M. about one-fourth the "station to station" day rate. The minimum night rate is 25c. Where the "station to station" rate is less than 25c no reduction is made for night service. For the purpose of applying night rates, the time of day at the point at which the "station to station" call originates is used. Day rates apply on all calls other than those made on a "station to station" basis, whether they are made during the day or night.

This does not change the rates or the handling of calls within the local service area

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Every discharged soldier and sailor will receive one month's additional pay, mileage home at the rate of 5 cents a mile, may keep one suit or uniform, including the overcoat, and wear the same after being discharged, under a bill passed by the Senate yesterday.

The Evening Standard claims to have information to the effect that the trial of the former Kaiser will be held after the conclusion of peace, probably in July. Meantime the paper says, the former emperor will be held in Holland, in responsible custody.

French newspaers, which have been consistently pessimistic regarding the probable length of the Peace Conference, yesterday predicted that it might end by April. They based this prediction on the appointment of Premier Clemenceau as permanent chairman. He is noted as a "speeder up."

State Department officials yesterday called attention to the circulation of many reports relative to conditions in Mexico termed misleading, and stated that from now on "the aid is off," and every report received by the government, favorable or unfavorable to the existing harmony between the two countries, will be given to the public.

If every German woman entitled to a vote exercised her privilege Sunday, the result of the German election will be the work of Germany's women. A recent issue of the Muenchener Post, just received in Washington, contains official figures which show that German women eligible to vote outnumber the men by some 2,000,000. Incidentally, the paper shows that the number of men killed or missing in the war are officially estimated at 1,800,000. The official review predicts that between 39,000,000 and 40,000,000 would cast their ballots in the national assembly elections. Of these it says, 21,000,000 are women. Soldiers voted for the first time in Germany's history.

in it anyway—and many of them give the whole credit to the publicity they gave to their wares.

IF a friend came to you with a personal request that didn't mean any great inconvenience on your part, would you refuse him?

WE believe we are your friend and we have a personal request to make:

PLEASE do not hold any telephone line longer than you must. Long conversations make more wires necessary. And conservation is still the word.

MAY NEED TRANSPORT TO BRING PRESIDENT'S GIFTS

Paris, Jan. 21.—The never-ending stream of gifts for President and Mrs. Wilson today was piling up so that it appears some of them will have to be sent to America on an army transport.

Gifts of all kinds and values have been pouring in ever since the President reached here. Many of them are priceless. Most of them come from little children from all over Europe and from families in entente countries which have suffered by the war.

It is highly probable that some of the gifts will remain, permanently in the White House since the President believes they were not given to him wholly personally.
